Shape : Triangle

Craft looked like a triangle in kind of a pivot so that what I think was the back. Craft also looked as if it was ingalft in light within 15 seconds it looked as if there were a power surge then it was gone but it didn't look as if it took off more like faded away.

I was walking away from my grandmas house going home because the houses are right next to each other I got half way across the street and I saw it! It was very bright in a triangular shape. I watched it for 15 seconds approximately. In this time it looked as if the back of it if it was the back, flared or something and then it kinda faded in to the sky. Ps sky was not cloudy and pardon the spelling
